An Evening with Josef Mašín

On Friday, January 24th, my friends and I attended, "An Evening with Josef Mašín," a lecture and discussion organized by Sokol SF. Albeit we knew his story of anti-communist fight and the dramatic 1953 escape from Czechoslovakia, hearing his first account description of a group of young boys in their early 20's fighting their way to freedom for 28 days through post war East Germany against all odds, was riveting to the whole, well attended room. For about 2 hours, everybody was quietly listening to Mr. Mašín, few questions and answers in the end filled some more details. We would like to thank Sokol SF for putting on this informative and wonderful event.

I'd like to thank Sokol SF for organizing an evening with such a great Czech hero and personality. What J. Mašín achieved and lived through is incredible and his heroism is inspiring for us, as well as for future generations. Hearing him talk about his group's anti-communist resistance and their ensuing escape was thrilling.

A Hike to Kick Off the New Year!

Eight hikers met on Saturday 1/15 for a hike in Tilden Park with a view of the San Francisco Bay Area. Everyone enjoyed both the hike, as well as the Czech sweet treats, which we had during our break.

Unfortunately, the whole Bay Area was covered by a thick fog, so we will get the view on the next hike.
